

INVITATION

19th September 2023, Brussels

WORKERS'-VOICE- BREAKFAST

European works councils in times of changing business models

WORKERS'-VOICE-BREAKFAST

Dear Madam / Dear Sir,

The Hans Böckler Foundation kindly invites you to its next Workers'-Voice-Breakfast on 19th September 2023. We appreciate very much that Kai Kuhlmann, EWC Spokesperson of ExxonMobil Central Europe Holding GmbH, will give us some insights of his work as workers' representative in a sector highly affected by the transformation.

With an ambitious set of instruments, the European Union is working on becoming the first climate neutral continent. Branches and companies are challenged to contribute to reach this goal by reducing their CO₂ footprint which partly entails significantly changing their business models.

Workers are an integral partner and often the driving force behind new developments initiating sustainable concepts for their company. Securing sustainable jobs for workers' in a just transition of our economy is in the focus of workers' representatives. With the objective of a balanced development in very diverse sectors and regions in the European single market.

Please join us to discuss with Kai Kuhlmann, a very experienced workers' representative, the aspects of:

- How do European Works' Councils accompany processes of change in their companies?
- Why is it so important to strengthen the capacity building of European Works' Councils in this transition especially in companies with high pressure of transformation?

We look forward to welcoming you at the above event. Coffee and croissants will be served.

Best regards,

Maxi Leuchters
