WORKERS'-VOICE BREAKFAST: ON THE ROAD TO SUSTAINABLE CORPORATE MANAGEMENT

The Role of Employee Representation

Dear Madam, Dear Sir,

The Hans Böckler Foundation kindly invites you to its next Workers'-Voice- Breakfast on 18th June 2025 at 8:30 o'clock

at NRW's permanent representation with Odysseus D. Chatzidis, Chairman of Telekom's European Works Council.

Sustainability reporting is currently the talk of the town. It is portrayed as a bureaucratic monster and even blamed for the lack of innovative capacity in European companies. At the moment, the Omnibus initiative is being discussed at the European level – an initiative that aims to dilute numerous obligations for companies to disclose sustainability information as well as to take human rights in the supply chain into account, even before these rules become mandatory. But is reporting really nothing more than a bureaucratic burden? What can the new sustainability reporting actually achieve? What is it good for?

This is what we want to discuss on June 18 together with Odysseus D. Chatzidis, as Chairman of Telekom's European Works Council who is a member of Telekom's Supervisory Board as well. We are delighted to welcome an expert who will share practical insights on how companies can use reporting to position themselves sustainably and ensure long-term viability. Together, we want to explore the role that European Works Councils play in sustainability reporting and the opportunities that arise for employee representation.

We would be glad if you could join us for this debate on 18th June 2025 at 8:30 o'clock. Coffee and croissants will be served. Please let us know by 11th June 2025 if you plan to attend.

Best regards,

Maxi Leuchters
